Subject: air emission levels

Hello,

I am only one Winnipegger living far from Swan River however I am very concerned that the Clean Environment Commission is asking for public feedback, presumably because it intends to offer a variance, to an OSB plant in Swan Valley.

In this day and age, how can we move the dial any more towards permitting polluting gases than we will tolerate as of current legislation? In my opinion, the Clean Environment Commission must now do more, not less, to ensure the viability of our environment for the sake off those to come.

I am in principle opposed to any increase in man made pollution, anywhere in Canada. Alas, we have more and more of it. Please hold the line!

Sincerely,

David Skinner
